Election Vigil

UNOFFICIAL VOTE COUNTERS GATHERED at the Town Clerk's office late Tuesday to keep a running score on the precinct votes. The crowd was smaller than that which collects for general elections, but those on hand kept close tabs on the report procedure. The only candidate who kept a full-time vigil was William Stewart, right, chairman of the Board of Selectmen who will be one of three Republican candidates for 12th District Representative to the General Court in November. He listens intently to James Doherty who made the precinct announcements. (Cole)

Andover Candidates Receive Nomination

Two Andover Republicans will run on the November ballot as candidates for 12th district representative to the General Court. In his first try for State office, William Stewart, chairman of the Andover Board of Selectmen, ran against incumbent Arthur Williams with a local vote of 1645. Williams outpaced Stewart in the district count, however with a total of 3199 to the selectman's 2622. He rolled up 1602 votes in Andover alone. Leading the three nominees was incumbent William Longworth whose total district vote was 35-2.

News Capsules

The Selectmen voted 2-1 today to give permission for William's Lunch to operate a jukebox on Sunday. Robert Watters cast the negative vote. The request had been tabled while the town clerk checked to see if other such permits have been granted in Andover. He reported that one is now in effect.

Andover officials have been invited by Mayor Daniel Kiley of Lawrence to meet with others from Lawrence today to discuss the possibility of a helicopter service for the area. A luncheon will be served and guests will enjoy a sample helicopter ride.

School Census Will Be Taken

The school department will begin soon to collect information for a census of school age children, counting the minor progeny of Andover residents.

Supt. Edward I. Erickson reports that the census will be taken by school crossing guards in accordance with state laws governing the collection of pupil information.

The purpose of the census is to equip the superintendent to file with the Commissioner of Education a report of the number of minor children with parents or guardians living in Andover who are enrolled on Oct. 1 in the following schools: kindergarten through grade 12, public, private, vocational and regional. Counted also will be children attending other than local schools.

At the same time, said Erickson, a pre-school census will be taken for use by local school authorities.

Ferdinand Is 30 Years Old

Andover Author Munro Leaf was guest of honor at a luncheon in New York City Monday in celebration of the 30th year of his internationally famous children's book, FERDINAND.

Wednesday he was a guest on the Today Show, NBC-TV, also in New York.

After all these years, FERDINAND is still a favorite. The book is on the current Viking Best Seller list and the publisher has just printed an additional 50,000 copies.

The children's classic has been translated into 50 languages and more than 400,000 copies have been sold over the years.

Posters and exhibits in celebration of the famous bull's birthday will be arranged at Memorial Hall Library and in Andover schools during National Book Week in October.

Committee Sticks To Ballot Request

The School Committee voted Tuesday to stick with its position of some weeks ago that it wants the State Labor Relations Commission to poll public school teachers to a check on their attitude toward representation by the Andover Teachers Assn.

It acted following discussion of a response from Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien for a ruling on how it should proceed.

The whole issue is to be explored at an LRC hearing which is to be held Sept. 28 at 10:30 a.m. in the Essex County Superior Court-house, Lawrence. This public inquiry was requested by the teachers' association so that the matter could be brought to a head early in the school year, before time for salary bargaining sessions and in advance of budget planning.

During the summer the ATA turned over to the committee a stack of 167 authorization cards which it said represented a voluntary expression of 84% of the town's teachers toward representation by the professional organization. At that time the committee said it would like to look into the possibility that some teachers had not felt free to decline to be represented by ATA in collective bargaining.

Phillips Academy Boys Registering This Week

The 188th session at Phillips Academy opens tomorrow when 788 boarding students and 64 day students begin arriving on campus. Boys new to PA check in on Friday and the rest of the student body returns Saturday. The first classes are scheduled for Monday.

Faculty Dean Alan Blackmer will preside at opening of school meetings as acting headmaster in the absence of John M. Kemper who is in England until Oct. 7.

Students and faculty will begin the new school year under clouds of dust from the West Quadrangle. Construction of a new road network and drainage systems are in progress there as well as work on Johnson Hall which is being renovated and gaining a Common room. Plans call for similar work to begin on Bishop Hall when Johnson is completed.

Another major construction project was completed over the summer. Nathan Hale dormitory, adjacent to the Cochran Sanctuary, opens to 40 boys this weekend with Fred Harrison and Harold Owen as housemasters. The formal dedication of the building will be held on Oct. 15, after the headmaster's return from England.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackmer host a tea this afternoon where faculty will meet the nineteen new members of the faculty and administration.

AHS Is Legally AHS In Counsel's Opinion

The School Committee was within its rights to name the school it built in 1957 Andover High School and unless or until Town Meeting decides otherwise it can legally remain so.

This is the official opinion of Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien as reported to the school board

Some weeks ago Winthrop R. Newman, 121 Elm St., challenged the legality of the committee's action in abandoning the name of Pynchard High School in a series of newspaper articles.

Newman hinged his case on the terms of the will of Benjamin H. Pynchard who left funds in 1850 for the founding and support of a free school. When Pynchard Free School was destroyed by fire in 1868 funds were appropriated by the town to aid the trustees in rebuilding the school.

In tracing history in his legal statement, O'Brien reports that the Supreme Judicial Court prevented the town from becoming involved with the rebuilt school because it would be controlled by Pynchard trustees rather than town authorities.

"A compromise was reached, and the town built a school which provided some courses. The proceeds of the Pynchard Fund were used to provide other courses," the counsel relates.

In 1902 Town Meeting authorized the school committee to establish a high school for the town and call it Pynchard High School until "otherwise ordered." At that time part of the school's faculty was paid from the Pynchard Fund and part from town appropriations.

Now, however, the Pynchard Fund amounts annually to something under $3,500 ($3,430 in 1965) and is used to purchase high school supplies.

O'Brien points out that no dual school has existed since 1948 and draws attention to the fact that the operation of the high school in 1965 cost an estimated $500,000.

Stating that in his opinion "it is more likely than not that the Hermon and Northfield Schools. Rev. Whyte holds a BA from Michigan State Univ., BD from Union Theological Seminary and STM from Andover-Newton Theological Seminary.

New members of the teaching faculty come to PA from a variety of backgrounds. John H. Beebe, instructor in mathematics has taught at the Groton School and Western Reserve Academy. He is a graduate of Amherst and holds a MAT from Harvard and MA from Bowdoin.

A former teaching fellow in religion, Timothy C. Callard, returns to Andover as an instructor. Last year he completed an MA at Columbia. His is a Princeton, graduate as well.

Fresh from two years in Liberia with the Peace Corps is Thomas E. Cone III who will join the department of biology as an instructor. Mr. Cone holds a BS from Trinity College.

ultimate power to select a name for a school lies with Town Meeting," town counsel takes the position nevertheless that the school authorized in 1902 is a very different school than the present high school.

Since Town Meeting did not specifically act to name the new building in 1957, O'Brien concludes that the School Committee name is valid.

When Mr. Newman's claim was initially discussed, committee members polled agreed with school administrators that Andover High School was a more meaningful identification, particularly for students as they become involved with academic and sports competitions and college.

Parents Get A Warning

Manager Richard Bowen warned Andover parents Monday that they would do well to know where their children are.

Reporting on a series of recent incidents involving vandalism and malicious damage, Bowen said he was putting parents on notice to know where their children are. "If they are found (at the scene of vandalism), they will be taken into custody and it will be embarrassing at the least," he said.

As examples of the sort of thing occurring, Bowen said youths on motor cycles and scooters have been making use of the track at the new high school for racing. He added that sand had been put in the gas tank of a tractor at the construction site, beer bottles strewn about etc.

He said also that windows in a storage shed at Indian Ridge Playground were broken over the weekend. Recreation Director Leslie Bartow added to this report that a lifeguard stand had been tumbled over the banking at Ponds Pond and that there were signs of a small fire which he said could have led to an extremely dangerous situation because of the dry conditions in the nearby woods.

RECENTLY DONATED to the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum in North Andover is this finisher carding machine. Curator James C. Hippen examines the gift, given by David & Furber Machine Co., North Andover. The card with its seven rubb roll condenser probably dates from around 1850. Machines such as this one are demonstrated regularly at the Museum. (Graham)

Museum Features Weaving

The newest museum in Essex County will provide demonstrations of the oldest craft in America during its anniversary open house Sunday, Sept. 18.

Thomas W. Leavitt, director, has announced that gallery guides at Merrimack Valley Textile Museum will spin and weave on hand and power-driven machinery between 1 and 5 p.m. in the afternoon. The demonstrations will be held in parts of two galleries on the first floor of the Museum. In other parts of these galleries, dozens of illustrations will show visitors how cloth was made in America between 1607 and 1900.

The textile museum preserves and communicates the history of textile manufacturing in America. It was established in 1960 as a nonprofit educational corporation. The Museum building, completed in 1961, contains 18,000 square-feet of floor space divided about equally between exhibition areas, storage areas, and a library and overlooks the green at the Old Center of North Andover.

Between July, 1961, when the Museum building was completed and September, 1964, when it was officially opened to the public, the Museum was the scene of much activity. A collection of early industrial machinery was acquired to complement the existing collection of handicraft implements. A library and archives were established to provide the tools for research. The permanent exhibits were developed through their various stages of research, exhibit script, design, and installation.

The permanent exhibits on the industrialization of cloth manufacturing in America occupy two large galleries on the first floor. Through a combination of artifacts, illustrations, and text, a historical narrative describes in some detail the transition from handicraft implements and home production power-driven machines for factory production. The exhibits are arranged according to the process in the manufacture of cloth. Supplementing the story of advancing technology are illustrations and text intended to relate this highly specialized narrative to the larger context of American social, political, and economic history.

Machinery of special interest in the permanent exhibits include an antique wooden wool picker from an upstate New York wool mill; a double-cylinder carding machine made in Massachusetts between 1810 and 1830; a "jack," a machine made about 1850 for spinning two-hundred threads simultaneously; and one of the earliest rotary machines for shearing the nap off wool cloth donated by a New Hampshire woolen manufacturer. Progress in weaving during the 18th and 19th Centuries is illustrated by four looms: a massive oak Pennsylvania-German hand loom; a fly shuttle loom; a late nineteenth century power loom for simple weaves; and an early twentieth century power loom for fine weaves. Visitor participation is invited at a water-powered spinning model of an early American fulling mill. A full-scale replica of the first spinning machine in America — actually a spinning jenny with twenty-four spindles — is also included. It is based on a print which appeared in Philadelphia in 1775.

The library was established under the direction of a professional librarian almost as soon as the building was completed. It now contains nearly fifteen thousand books and pamphlets. It is a highly specialized library containing both European and American volumes from the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries which offer detailed descriptions of techniques and equipment for the manufacture of textiles. Some of the major holdings include books dealing with tariff question, census information on manufactures, local histories, old encyclopedias, mechanical dictionaries, and trade catalogues. In 1964 the Museum entered the library of the Essex Company which consists largely of books on water power and hydraulics. (The Essex Company has controlled the water rights of the Merrimack River in Lawrence, Mass., since the city was founded in 1793.) Supplementing the above works is a collection of business records of 19th century American manufacturers of textile machinery.

Supplementing the story of advancing technology are illustrations and text intended to relate this highly specialized narrative to the larger context of American social, political, and economic history.

Machinery of special interest in the permanent exhibits include an antique wooden wool picker from an upstate New York wool mill; a double-cylinder card machine made in Massachusetts between 1810 and 1830; a "jack," a machine made about 1850 for spinning two-hundred weight threads simultaneously; and one of the earliest rotary machines for shearing the nap off wool cloth donated by a New Hampshire woolen manufacturer. Progress in weaving during the 18th and 19th centuries is illustrated by looms; a massive oak Pennsylvania-German hand loom; a shuttle loom; a late nineteenth century power loom for silk weaves; and an early twentieth century power loom for fine weaves. Visitor participation is invited at a water-powered scale model of an early American textile mill. A full-scale replica of the first spinning machine in America - actually a spinning jenny with twenty-four spindles - is also included. It is based on a print which appeared in Philadelphia in 1775.

The library was established under the direction of a professional librarian almost as soon as the building was completed. It is

Pike School Enrollment Largest In It's History

Pike School began its new school year Monday, opening doors to a record enrollment of 343 pupils.

Of this total, 218 are Andover residents. Represented in the balance of the student body are 20 different Merrimack Valley communities.

Five new teachers began their first term at Pike with the new academic year. Their names and a resume of their background

Mrs. Edward F. Clegg of Andover has for some years served as a substitute at Pike School. She comes to a permanent post following a full-time teaching assignment in the Lawrence school system last year. Mrs. Clegg has been assigned to teach reading, English, and history in the fourth and fifth grades. She will serve as a fifth grade homeroom teacher. Miss Rosemarie Lilleker comes to the staff from Surrey, England. She trained for her British teaching certificate at the East Hampshire Park College in Berkshire, specializing in the teaching of primary grades. She will teach second grade.

Mrs. Gordon Marlow has served as a teacher in the middle grades in American schools in both Poland and London. She holds a master's education degree from Harvard which she attended following her graduation from Smith College. She will teach fourth and fifth grade reading, English, and history. She has been assigned to a fourth grade homeroom.

Mrs. Glen R. Moreno comes to Pike from her home in Oregon following teaching experience in India. Mrs. Moreno is a graduate of Stanford University where she majored in English Literature while supplementing her studies with concentration on the French and Italian languages. She will serve as a sixth grade homeroom teacher and will teach English literature and French at the sixth grade level.

Trevor Pugh comes to the day school following teaching experience in Wales and New Zealand. He is a graduate of the Institute of Education in Nottingham, England. Pugh will serve as a third grade homeroom teacher and will teach English, geography, and reading in the middle grades. He was formerly a member of the New Zealand soccer squad who toured the world between 1962 and 1965. His experience will be used in coaching at Pike.

John G. Tomlinson of Tolland, Andover, will teach arithmetic in grades four and five. Spanish in grade nine. In addition, he will be assigned to various administrative duties. Tomlinson's higher education includes a degree from the United States Military Academy and advanced study at both Duquesne University and the University of Maryland. From the latter institution he was awarded a certificate of fluency in the Spanish language. He served for three years as a Spanish instructor at West Point and returned to education following twelve years of business experience.

Fire Station Dinner Topic

Selectman Sidney P. White is determined to sell fellow policy holders on the old Main Street Rubber warehouse as a fire station site for a new central fire station (or combined fire-police station) that he staked the board a free meal Wednesday in order to get their undivided attention. The dinner was scheduled too late for TOWNSMAN coverage in this edition.

White issued his invitation Monday when he could not immediately persuade the board to add an article to the October Town Meeting warrant offering voters the chance to consider his proposal and thereby elect an earlier two-thirds vote on the fire station on Stevens Street. Asked to attend were members of the board, the town manager, the manager's secretary and members of the press and C. Colin Giles, owner of the warehouse property.

The selectman has openly proposed use of the Stevens Street site since it was voted last March. His objections have centered around the fact that the location is at the foot of a steep hill and that for some runs trucks would have to use Harding Street and a highway bridge which he says is capable of supporting fire equipment.

Asked by Manager Richard Bowen Monday why he voiced none of these objections after his election last March and prior to or on the floor of Town Meeting, White said he had not felt sufficiently informed at that time to do so. White indicated that he feels the town should acquire all Giles' one-and-a-half property, raze the warehouse and use the brick to construct a combined police and fire station.

Asked what his price for the location would be, Contractor Giles said at the last reading some months ago he had $163,000 in mind. He said he could be ready Wednesday night with a final price and also quotations on the price for a portion, rather than the whole of the property. Giles restated his earlier contention that the property could be best utilized as a combination site for a town hall, fire and police station and said that as a taxpayer he would be interested in the savings this could mean for townspeople. He was speaking then of using the warehouse shell and adding a fire station at the rear of the building.

Too Expensive

Selectman Robert A. Watters agreed that the location would be practical for all three, but said he thought it was too expensive for a police-fire station if the warehouse had to be demolished. In the conversation Giles estimated that there are 2.5 million bricks in the building worth about two and one half cents apiece.

There was a lengthy two-man exchange between White and Manager Bowen. It was triggered by White's statement that a "lot of facts" on the Stevens Street site had not been explored at Town Meeting and before, Selectman Philip Allen jumped in with the retort that "You're making charges," White said "No I'm not." "Yes you are," said Allen whereupon White said he would reword his comment. Allen finished with the reply, "You'd better." He was a member of the board when approval of the Stevens Street site was approved, as were Robert Watters and Roger Collins. (Collins was absent from Monday's meeting.)

In the discussion Selectman White told the manager that he thought he "might be surprised at the reaction of the people" to the Tyler Rubber location. He said a great many people support him in this and that he thought a vote of the firemen would show that they favor the mid-hill site. "I don't care what they think," Bowen snapped. "I do care what the people think." (The Fire Chief has thus far supported the Stevens Street proposal.) He challenged White for his inference that "all the facts were not in" and outlined the long procedure used in arriving at the decision to recommend Stevens Street. He reported that committees and studies pre-dating the urban renewal vote all supported the site. He pointed out also that it is about equi-distance between the high risk districts in town - the business center and the Raytheon plant.

White said he thought there would be more accumulated valuation South of the center and Bowen agreed but added that the potential risk is the major one to be considered in locating a fire station. The selectman asked the manager if he thought the townspeople would be so favorable to the Stevens Street location if they knew what its owners are asking. This figure has not been revealed because negotiations are in progress.

Bowen replied that he didn't like the asking price himself, but that with property values as they are, he thinks the town must be prepared to pay the "tariff."

He reminded Mr. White that negotiations have not been concluded and that the price is still an open issue.

During a 78 hour period, two broadwinged hawks brought to their nest: 11 mice, 8 snakes, 5 frogs, 1 bluejay and 2 unidentified birds.

Painless Pit Hearings Result In 6 Renewals

What may have been the least painful series of gravel pit hearings in Andover history was held Monday at the regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen.

The board approved six pit renewals. There was discussion of just one.

Members had in their hands reports from Building Inspector Arthur Peatman indicating that the pits in question are complying with the town's regulations on sand and gravel operations.

Joseph Serio, 15 Lowell Junction Rd., appeared at the hearing, however, to complain about the activities of trucks owned by J. J. Cronin after they leave the pit in his neighborhood. He said the street is strewn with rocks and that the road is in poor condition for walkers and autos.

Cronin replied that his men are ordered to cover their loads and to turn in a specified area to prevent spilling onto the roadway.

He added that his men clean the pit crossing at the end of each work day.

Serio challenged this statement, saying, "You're insulting my intelligence." He acknowledged that Cronin may have issued proper orders regarding the handling of trucks but said he and others in the area know that not all drivers are heeding the instructions.

A question about future grading and seeding of the Cronin pits as they are phased out was asked by Philip Wormwood. He was answered by Selectman Philip Allen who said the town's present regulations make explicit demands upon pit operators who are closing down an operation.

Wormwood also asked the board to consider improvements to the streets in the area, particularly as further industrial development is considered.

Chairman William Stewart pointed out that the board is not unaware of street conditions in the area and pushed for legislation at the last session of the General Court to finance improvements. He said that the bill filed got lost in the shuffle last term but will be re-considered.

Manager Richard Bowen added that the town filed for and has been denied EDA aid for highway improvements which would stimulate use of industrial land in the area. Because he felt EDA did not fully understand the economic potential involved, the manager has asked for reconsideration of the application. EDA funds are awarded for projects that can be expected to create job opportunities.

Pit renewals were approved for J. J. Cronin's Andover Industrial Realty Development Trust and his pit on River Street; John L. Cyr operations on Beacon and Woburn Streets; Herry Croteau Inc., Beacon Street; and Essex Sand and Gravel Co. Inc., Andover and Woburn Streets.

The Time Drain

Officials from four Greater Lawrence communities, including Andover, are to collect September 19 for their second attempt to resolve the key issue still impeding progress toward a regional solution to the problems of river pollution.

At an August meeting these officials came no closer to agreement on the major stumbling block to a cooperative venture than their appointed representatives had in months of preparation. Andover, North Andover and Methuen still insist that representation on the board that would operate a regional pollution abatement facility should be on a one-for-one basis. Lawrence is thus far determined that she should have two members on the policy board, a prospect that is less than appealing to elected representatives of the smaller communities.

Why? Suppose Lawrence had two spokesmen on board. And further suppose that a situation arose which divided the board. With the support of one additional community, Lawrence would be in a position to swing the vote her way.

This is no small unknown quantity. As envisioned, the district board would have the right to take land by eminent domain and to issue bonds and anticipatory notes, to construct, operate and maintain facilities and to apportion the cost to the communities involved. Andover, North Andover and Methuen are properly cautious in insisting that the governing board be organized in such a way as to protect their interests.

Despite the clamor for pollution abatement, most officials at the local level are woefully ill informed about what is proposed and ill equipped to question the judgment of the consulting engineers who have both outlined how pollution of the Merrimack should be controlled and what legislation should be drafted to create a regional district.

Before September 19 we urge elected officials of the four communities involved to do their homework. The situation has changed since August. In the interim both Federal and State legislators have voted funds to assist communities in financing up to 80 percent of the cost of constructing river clean-up facilities, which means that there will be increasing pressure for municipal action.

The cities and towns have a moral obligation to discontinue the polluting of the nation's rivers now that the dangers of such willful destruction are fully known. But the people of these political sub-divisions have a right to expect that in the end their policy makers will recommend a solution that promises the most effective, least costly and highly efficient system that can be devised in this day and age.

Right now it is impossible to be confident that the men who have responsibility for pollution decisions in Greater Lawrence are adequately prepared to make such an all-encompassing recommendation.

And they are running out of time for boning up.

We can but wish New England's three largest utility systems well as they study the feasibility of corporate affiliation.

Any private power venture that can work to reduce electricity rates in this region will be a boon to both industrial and residential users.

Did You Know . . .

That five years ago when the Massachusetts Division of Motorboats was established, the agency registered 30,000 boats. Today the figure has climbed to almost 90,000. As a result of this growth, the division has beefed up both its programs of training for boaters and for enforcement personnel. Inspectors for the state do not carry guns, but they nevertheless have full powers of arrest and will employ them if water cowboys operate to endanger the lives of innocent boaters.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN: I have been gone from Andover for many years, but still keep up with its progress through the Townsman.

I have appreciated the Townsman over the years, and just wondered if the Townsman and the people of Andover appreciate the devoted, intelligent reader who contributes so much through his many letters to the Editor - namely Mr. Dino Valz?

Urban Population Climbing

If you're a city slicker, you have more company than you may realize; 63% of the entire population of the U. S. lives in the 212 metropolitan areas with populations of 50,000 or more.

New York City has the largest population - 7,891,957 in 1960 - and combined with Jersey City and Newark, N. J., it makes up the world's largest metropolitan census area with a population of 14,759,429 according to the 1960 census.

While New York has the largest population, Los Angeles is the most spread out with a land area of over 450 square miles.

The highest state capital is Denver, Colorado, "The Mile High City," where the altitude on the steps of the capitol building is exactly 5,280 feet!

Our newest state capital is Honolulu, Hawaii, which also has more city-owned parks than any other - 3,000 of them.

Juneau, Alaska, has the distinction of being the northernmost capital and the coldest city in the U. S., with an average annual temperature of 40.1 degrees F.

The city with the biggest building boom is Los Angeles, which put up a record 141,526 housing units alone in 1963.

The growth rates of large cities such as New York and Los Angeles over the past decade can't compare, however, to a much smaller city which takes the honors for being the fastest growing, Warren, Michigan, jumped from 727 people in 1950 to 89,246 a decade later - an increase of 12,175.9 percent!

While New York has the largest population in the United States, it's dwarfed by Tokyo, which was the first city to officially pass the 10 million mark in 1962. In 1964, an off-the-record estimate put the population of Shanghai at 10,700,000.

While some cities are famous for their size, others are equally famous for other superlatives. The highest capital in the world, before the conquest by China, was Lhasa in Tibet with an elevation of 12,087 feet above sea level. Jericho, now called Ariha, in Jordan, is the oldest known walled town; it may have been inhabited as early as 7800 B.C. The world's oldest capital city, Damascus, Syria, has been continuously inhabited since 2000 B.C.

Many cities around the world attract visitors to see their architectural marvels of bygone days. Such structures as the Taj Mahal, Chartres Cathedral and the Egyptian pyramids have withstood the test of time and continue to inspire modern architects.

Cities, both ancient and modern, derive their character and atmosphere from their public buildings. Still favored for its beauty and durability, as well as economy, is the oldest construction material known to man - stone! Today, we are experiencing a modern Stone Age. Some architects who feel that buildings of glass and steel have a transitory quality are combining the use of stone with other materials to give their work a feeling of permanence. A favorite of the ancients, stone still offers age-old advantages and some brand new ones as well. Marble, one of six different types of stone that are quarried in the U. S., is found in a myriad of colors. Also available to U. S. builders are sandstone, quartzite, granite, slate and limestone - come in a variety of natural colors and textures.

City planning, which we hear so much talk about these days, isn't a new idea. Some of the most interesting examples of ancient cities that were carefully planned out can be seen in the ruins of the Mayan Cities of Central America and the Hittite cities of Asia Minor. While parts of Athens and Rome, for example, were a good deal of thought, the residential areas of these two cities were allowed to develop as they would.

Unfortunately, most cities, here and abroad, sprung up willy-nilly. But such American cities as Buffalo, Detroit and Washington, D. C., benefitted from early planning.

Also known as "The City of Magnificent Distances," Washington is famous for its wide avenues and scenic vistas. Constructed on the site approved for the new capital by President Washington, the city was designed by a French engineer who had fought in the American Revolution, Pierre Charles L'Enfant.

Many other cities have become equally well-known by their nicknames. While you may know Paris as "The City of Light," can you guess which is the "City of Saints" . . . the "City of Bells" . . . the "City of the Three Kings"?

Montreal, the capital of the Canadian province of Quebec, often called the "City of Saints," because so many of the streets there are named after saints. Strasbourg, in northern France, is sometimes referred to as the "City of Bells." The "City of the Three Kings" is Cologne, Germany, which is reputed to be the burial place of the Magi.

Rome is known as "The City of the Seven Hills," and "The Eternal City." It was said that Agrippa, during the reign of Augustus, converted it "from a city of brick huts to one of marble palaces."

Down The Years

The Rose Cottage Tea Room at the corner of Chestnut and Central Streets will be open to the public on and after Sept. 23 under the management of the Misses Muriel and Christine Rundlett of North Andover. Afternoon tea will be served as previously, also luncheons and dinners per order.

At Phillips Academy this year, you eat your breakfast and like it. At least you do if you are not a senior. In past years, it seems, some of the lazier undergraduates have gotten into the habit of sleeping late in the morning, tearing out to their first classes and then coming down town for a leisurely bite to eat. Not so any more. Attendance is taken at breakfast and woe to the student who isn't there for his shredded wheat.

Married here in Andover by the Rev. Frank R. Shipman in 1916, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Anderson recently celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in Mexico where Mr. Anderson, son of Mrs. Mary E. Anderson of Chestnut St., has been superintendent of schools for seven years.

Edward Pare of Beacon Street entered the potato picking contest at the Topsfield Fair last week and won it. He picked three barrels in 12 minutes, 12 1/2 seconds.

Irving J. Whitcomb of Mill Street Terrace recently enjoyed a trip to Jasper Park and Banff all the way across the country to Banff, Alberta, Canada.

A tea was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Stevenson, Chandler Circle, honoring Miss G. Titcomb who leaves this week to commence her studies at Skidmore College.

Rep. Arthur Williams has asked the Selectmen to look into the possibility of obtaining newly appropriated State anti-pollution funds for use in cleaning up the Shawheen River.

Phillips Exeter Academy has opened with a record enrollment of 821. Scholarship aid totaling $325,000 has been awarded to 216 of these boys.

Selectman Robert A. Watters called attention at Monday's board meeting to the first prize won by the Andover town report in the Massachusetts Selectmen's Assn. contest and said the honor was "due entirely to the talent and activity of the town manager." The balance of the board concurred in congratulating Richard Bowen for the "marvelous job he did." This is the second year in a row Andover has won a first prize with its report.

Prompted by a complaint from Mrs. Vincent Hockmeyer, 39 School St., the Board of Selectmen has ordered a speed survey for School Street with a view to posting vehicle speed limits.

Alfred L. Parizo, 161 N. Main St., complained to the Selectmen Monday that the parking of a school bus in a residential district by his neighbor John Gaudette is in violation of zoning regulations. He said Gaudette has ignored an order from the building inspector to discontinue the practice. Manager Bowen confirmed this statement and said the matter has been turned over to Town Counsel for possible court action.

About $100 in cash and two half gallons of vodka were taken from the Knights of Columbus Lodge, Briarcliff, Friday night. Manager Joe Connor reported Saturday morning that the rear fire door had been tampered with and left ajar.

Town Manager Richard Bowen has been invited to lecture in December on Administrative Planning and Research in connection with a Boston College municipal government management institute.

The Selectmen met with the Finance Committee last night (after TOWNSMAN press time) to discuss the money articles in the warrant for the October special town meeting.

Massachusetts Republican Congressman F. Bradford Morse has renewed his call for a Clean Rivers Demonstration program for the Merrimack River Basin. Morse's action came the day after an inspection trip of the Merrimack by Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall. The Congressman reminded Udall of his suggestion early this year that the Merrimack be the subject of the proposed new Demonstration Rivers project. Under the proposal, which has passed the Senate

Read Some 1100 Books

During the past summer 120 boys and girls in Andover read and reported to the librarians on ten good books each, thereby winning distinction, and congratulations. They also had the pleasure of the company they met in their reading.

Each child received a clown picture on which to paste one large polka dot for each book read. The idea of the "Circus Fun Club" as the vacation reading was called this summer, appealed to 375 who signed up. Of this number 265 actively read and nine boys and girls at Ballardvale branch and 101 at the main library went the course by reading and reporting on ten books. There were also many who did not stop at 10 but went on and earned 28 spots for their clown at the rate of one spot for each book.

To the 120 will go reading certificates to be given out later on through their respective school libraries.

At the Ballardvale branch Mrs. Martha MacCausland reports there were 20 elementary school children actively reading. Of these, certificates will go to nine, who completed ten books and reported to her on them. They are:

A Centenary
September 21, 1966 marks the Centenary of the birth of Herbert George Wells whose science fiction is still much read today. His "OUTLINE OF HISTORY", a remarkable achievement of historical popular writing, published in 1920, and his social novels, today RATHER DATED, had an impact on his time. With the possible exception of ANN VERONICA, few of the novels have readers in 1966.

A display of the library's holdings of this seminal author may be seen in the main reading room of Memorial Hall Library.

Sports' Heroes

An exhibit of circulating books by and about well-known sports heroes opens today at Memorial Hall Library. Mrs. John Wigley, young adult librarian and Mrs. Kenneth C. Vint, assistant librarian expect a wide audience for the books they have selected because the love of sport and reading about it knows no age barriers.

Accounts of baseball heroes included in the display are Arna Bontemps' FAMOUS NEGRO ATHLETES; JACKIE ROBINSON by Bill Roeder and BASEBALL HAS DONE IT by John Roosevelt (Jackie) Robinson; YOGI by Yogi Berra; THE BABE RUTH STORY by Babe (George) Herman Ruth also Schoor's CASEY STENGEL and Mickey Mantle's THE QUALITY OF COURAGE. Also books about, as well as by Mickey and Stan Musial.

Biographies about boxers include THE CASSIUS CLAY STORY by George Sullivan; VICTORY OVER MYSELF by Floyd Patterson; Jack Dempsey's ROUND BY ROUND; and comment on boxing is supplied in THE SWEET SCIENCE by A.J. Liebling.

Football players are represented by Edward Fitzgerald's JOHNNY UNITAS: THE AMAZING SUCCESS STORY OF MR. QUARTERBACK; Y. A. Tittle's Y. A. TITTLE: I PASS!; James (Jimmy) Brown's OFF MY CHEST.

(Alt-Lee)

Greenwood - Christmas

Carol Anne Christmas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Christmas of Camden, S. C. and John Alan Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Greenwood Jr., 93 Porter Rd., were married Aug. 5 in an evening ceremony in the First Baptist Church, Camden. Rev. O. Floyd Montgomery officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza and imported Guipure lace, designed with a scalloped neckline re-embroidered in pearls. A design of lace extended down the front panel of the bell-shaped skirt, which ended in a chapel train. Her illusion veil was attached to a crown of lace, pearls and brilliants. The bride carried a nosegay bouquet of roses, feathered carnations and tuberoses.

Miss Sarah H. Christmas was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore an Empire gown with a bodice of garnet silk brocade, Queen Anne sleeves, pale pink silk crepe skirt and a garnet brocade panel, which fell from the neckline in the back. She wore a matching brocade headband and carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses and garnet rosebuds.

Mr. Greenwood was best man for his son. Ushers were James DeZern of Sumter, S. C., the bride's brother, William Christmas Jr., and her cousin, Paul Rowell and Michael Christmas, all of Camden.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Christmas wore a beige lace costume with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue chiffon gown with matching accessories. She also wore cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. John Sill, maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. James Christmas, her paternal grandmother, both of Camden and Mrs. Wallace Ward of Salisbury Beach, Mass., maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, were present at the ceremony.

A reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip through the southern states, the couple went to Fort Hood Texas, where the bridegroom had been stationed with the U. S. Army artillery.

Both present and prospective members of Cub Pack 75, St. Augustine's Church, will register tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. in Good Counsel Hall in the lower church. Boys who will be eight and not over 11 years of age by Oct. 1 are eligible.

Pack meetings are held the 4th Friday of each month in the School Hall and will start at 7:15 p.m., according to Chairman J. F. Adams. The first meeting will be held Friday, Sept. 23.

Adams has issued a call for additional Den Mothers which he says are necessary if the Cubs are to have a successful season. Depending upon the availability of mothers, the dens will be limited to six or eight boys. The chairman pointed out that though mothers of Cubs are particularly sought for this work, other women and senior education students may also find the work interesting.

The Pack also needs a Cubmaster, assistants and Webelos Den Chiefs. The Cubmaster supervises the activities of the Pack while the Den Chief directs the activities of the older boys. Experience is not necessary.

Interested persons should contact J. F. Adams, 20 Birch Rd.

Lawn Care Products

T. J. Scanlon's, located at the corner of Essex Street and Broadway in Lawrence, is now featuring the Scott's Lawn Program for fall. They have in stock a complete supply of Scott's lawn care products, including the amazing new Windsor blend grass seed, Turf Builder and fungus killers, and they offer free delivery in Andover. Scanlon's stresses that this time of year is most important to the life of your lawn, because of the warmer days but cooler nights, and heavier dews. It's the season when you can make two blades, or even four, grow where one grew before, resulting in a thicker, greener lawn. Scott's new Windsor seed thrives in hot weather, stays green longer without rain, and keeps weeds in check.

Parish School Students To Register Next Week

Registration for public school children who plan to attend St. Augustine's Parish School of Religion will begin Monday.

Rev. James Wenzel, CCD spiritual director and Richard Gannon, chairman of teachers, are concluding several weeks of staff organization. Out of their planning has come the announcement that double sessions will be scheduled for elementary youngsters due to attend the Saturday classes. The growth in enrollment has made this necessary. The first session will begin at 9 a.m., and the second at 10:45.

Registrations for grades two through six will be taken at 9 a.m.

and 10:45 Sept. 24.

Those who wish to register for the first session are asked to report to the school yard at the rear of St. Augustine's School at 9. Those who wish to attend the second session are asked to report at 10:45. The same procedure will be used on the following week, Oct. 1, to register first grade students must be accompanied by a parent.

Registration for all junior high school students is scheduled for Monday evening, Sept. 19, at 7:15. Senior high school students will register on Tuesday evening at 7:15, Sept. 20. Books and Bibles will be distributed at the time of registration.

The Special School will reopen Saturday morning, Oct. 1 at 9 at St. Augustine's School. Parents of last year's students will be contacted by the teaching staff. New students are asked to register on opening day.

Busses will be available for transporting students to the elementary grades on Saturday mornings. The bus will start on the following route one hour before classes are scheduled to begin: From the Mobil station on South Main St., north on Main to Ballardvale Rd., left to the South School, proceed on Andover St. to Lowell Junction, back on Lowell Junction Rd. to Andover St., to Clark Rd., to Dascomb Rd., to Lovejoy Rd., to Lowell St., to Poor St., to Williams St., to Shawheen Heights, on Princeton St. to Shawheen square, to Balmoral St., to Carisbrooke Rd., to Brown St., to Duffon Ct., to Enmore St., to Haverhill St., to Main St., to St. Augustine's School.

A HIGH FLYING REWARD - Winners of a Boston helicopter ride recently were Mona Perrault, 3 Middle St. and Robert Hoelzel, 110 Haggetts Pond Rd., summer students at the Vacation Bible School held at Andover Bible Chapel. Each rolled up high point scores in his division for attendance, class work etc. With them for the ride was Mrs. William Watson, an active church worker.

group and a spokesman for the Massachusetts Teachers Assn. replied that the State would require nothing more than proof of 30 percent representation in determining the legality of the ATA claim since no other organization or union is challenging their position.

But the Committee decided to push for a vote that would clear up the question of whether or not the mass of Andover teachers want any collective bargaining representation.

Reaffirming its interest in such a ballot, the Committee agreed Tuesday that it will ask Town Counsel O'Brien to present its case at the September hearing.

by Frederick Fitzgerald who said that the "basis of the controversy was whether or not the cards (submitted by ATA) represent a free choice by the teachers.

Committeewoman Virginia H. Cole added that what the Committee wants is "an election after full explanation." "Circulation of cards on a one-to-one basis with hurried explanation or no explanation at all" is not satisfactory she said.

Another issue to be settled is which of two ATA bargaining units will represent school department heads if representation is authorized. ATA wants department heads to bargain with teachers. The Committee wants them to bargain with administrators, feeling that they should not be included in the same category as teachers whom they supervise and evaluate.

Boosters' Drive Organized

The Andover Boosters Club has marshalled volunteers for its 10th annual membership drive. They will swing into action Sept. 23. Club officials hope that at least half the some 800 students at Andover High School will participate in the house-to-house canvass to raise funds for the organization's scholarship and support-for-youth programs.

The membership campaign is the Boosters' major money raising activity. What they collect goes for contributions to various local youth organizations, awards for athletic teams that bring home state championships and $1000 in scholarships.

Last year 263 students collected a total of $2500 in one week.

Appointed drive chairman for the 10th consecutive year is Charles O. McCullom. He was named to the post by Albert Swenson, president.

Working as precinct captains will be the following: One, Thomas Wallace and Charles McCullom; Two, Walter Pearson and Homer Wadman; Three, Thomas Marjerison, Weston Eastman and Bruce Gower; Four, John Rooks, Stan Chlebowski and Robert Vogt; Five, Durwood Moody and Charles Langdell; Six, Edward Seero, Charles Hajj and President Swenson.

Appointed to handle publicity was Philip Wormwood, principal at Andover High School, Athletic Director Donald Dunn and Roger Whitcomb. Other committees:

printing, John Boyle, Homer Wadman and Thomas Wallace; literature, Weston Eastman and Thomas Marjerison; coordinator, Walter Pearson.

Boosters officers and committee members will meet at the high school Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m. With an assist from Mrs. Madeline Simeone and school cheerleaders, calling list will be compiled.

To encourage student participation, Swenson and McCullom will speak at the high school next week to explain the purpose of the Boosters organization.

BCA Meets On Tuesday

The Ballardvale Community Assn. will hold its first regular fall meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 20 in the Vale's community center.

The meeting was delayed a week so that the hall could be used as a polling place for the State Primary.

A covered dish supper is to be served prior to the discussion of business. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe will report briefly on their recent trip to Germany and also speaking will be Mrs. Louise T. Graves, a social worker.

A program of piano music will conclude the event.

Theodore Acosta, BCA president reported Monday that some 300-250 people attended a weekend fair sponsored by the organization.

League Lunch Is Announced

The fall luncheon of the League of Women Voters of Andover will be held at 12:15 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 22 at the K of C Lodge, Briarcliff, on Osgood St.
